

Have your say in health protection research

Join our public and community advisory group:

Help services prepare & respond better when people need them most

Who are we?

- We are the NIHR Health Protection Research Unit in Emergency Preparedness and Response
- A collaboration between the University of Birmingham, the UK Health Security Agency & the public

What is our research about?

- We carry out health research to help services and communities prepare for and respond better when serious health situations happen (e.g. pandemics, major accidents)
- We aim to make responses fairer, faster and more inclusive for everyone

How can I get involved?

- We are looking for 10 people to join our public advisory group
- Meet 4-5 times per year (3 hour meetings, hybrid options)
- Share experiences, give feedback and help shape research

Who can join?

- Anyone with an interest can join
- No experience needed - your perspective matters!

Time and payment

- Payment: £27.50 per hour
- Reasonable expenses

How to apply

Fill in our short online form by clicking HERE or scan the code:

Key dates

- Closing date to apply: 15 Jan
- Informal chat: 19 or 20 Jan
- Applicants notified: 20 Jan
- Training: 27 Jan Birmingham

